We worked with Kris Arnheim at Schooley Mitchell and were absolutely blown away by the results. They uncovered tens of thousands of dollars in shipping savings for our company—without us having to change our shipping vendor! Their team's expertise and attention to detail allowed them to identify cost-saving opportunities that we never would have found on our own. I was thrilled by how much they were able to save us. The process was seamless, and the value they brought to our business was undeniable. I highly recommend Schooley Mitchell to anyone looking to optimize their shipping costs while maintaining their existing relationships.
