

To whom it may concern,

I am more than happy to offer this letter of recommendation on behalf of a great company, MSP Manufacturing. For over 75 years, MSP Manufacturing has been a trailblazer in precision machining, earning a world-renowned reputation for excellence in aviation, aerospace, and military defense.

MSP Manufacturing distinguishes itself with a comprehensive range of services aimed at meeting the diverse needs of its clients. From precision machining to custom fabrication and assembly, it offers tailored solutions to various industries, including its recent additions of automotive, sanitation, and medical. Its dedication to utilizing advanced technologies and adhering to stringent quality standards ensures the delivery of superior products to its clientele.

At MSP Manufacturing it is truly the team that sets it apart in the industry. From experienced engineers and machinists to dedicated support staff, every member of the team demonstrates a commitment to excellence and customer satisfaction. Their collective expertise and collaborative approach contribute significantly to the success and reputation of MSP Manufacturing within the manufacturing industry.

I highly recommend MSP Manufacturing to anyone in need of reliable and high-quality manufacturing services. Its commitment to delivering innovative solutions, coupled with the expertise and professionalism displayed by its team, make it a trusted partner for businesses seeking manufacturing excellence.

Sincerely,

Rodney Wead
Strategic-Partner
Schooley Mitchell